US EPA's Renovation, Repair and Paint Program synopsis

Beginning April 22, 2010, contractors performing renovation, repair and painting projects that disturb paint in homes, child care facilities, and schools built before 1978 must be certified by the EPA and must follow specific work practices to prevent lead contamination.

Contractors must use lead-safe work practices and follow these three simple procedures: contain the work area, minimize dust and clean up thoroughly. Also, there are pre-renovation education requirements as well. Individuals can become certified renovators by taking an eight-hour training course from an EPA-approved training provider.

Requirements

- Anyone who receives financial compensation for work that disturbs paint in housing and child-occupied facilities built before 1978, this may include, but is not limited to:
 - Residential rental property owners/managers
 - Building service professionals
 - General contractors
 - Special trade contractors (Painters, Plumbers, Carpenters, Electricians)
- All individuals performing the activities are either EPA certified contractor or working under an EPA certified contractor
- All activities are performed in a lead safe fashion
- Distribute lead pamphlet prior to work starting
- Post proper signage

Exemptions

- Residential units or child occupying facilities built after 1978
- Dedicated senior housing or group housing for adults only
- Houses declared lead-free by a stated licensed lead risk assessor or paint inspector
- Minor work that disturbs less than 6 ft² of paint/room or less than 20 ft² of paint on the outside (window replacement is not considered minor maintenance/repair)
- Homeowners doing work on their own occupied residential unit
- Emergency renovations (imminent threat to the health and/or safety of the occupants or adjacent properties)
